EVANS AND OUIMET MEET IN AMATEUR TOURNAMENT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 20 .- When the two greatest golfers among amateurs in the country meet there is certain to be considerable interest. Today Charles Evans is playing Francis Ouimet at Oakmont in the second round of the twenty-third annual golf championship tournament. There is a tinge of regret to the match which has been eagerly awaited by the whole golfing world for four years.

Ouimet is not at his best. He is a sick man and showed clearly the effects of play during the three days of competition when he defeated Cleary yesterday. As it is, Evans is the top-heavy favorite to defeat other is that it will appear before Quimet today and the odds-on favorite to repeat his triumph of 1916, just as large crowds.
